LIONS CLUB MEETING

Partially due to heat, and partially to harvesting operations, only a small group of Lions turned out at the last meeting. Those present however, did more than justice to a hearty dinner.

A list of caterers prepared for the year in advance was submitted by the committee appointed and won't be checked over until the next meeting, when it will again come up for approval.

Dr. Giffen was appointed a committee to organize the chlorination process necessary for the swimming pool, and to order such equipment as may be necessary for this purpose. It was decided also that the Lions Club should assist the Swimming Pool committee to stage an aquatic sports day sometime this fall before the pool closes.

Mr. Paul Hanson, of the Foothills Aviation Club, was present, and gave a very brief talk on the future and the possibilities of flying clubs. The Dominion government, he stressed, is giving every encouragement to the formation of local flying clubs, and the erection of small runways in rural centers. Following his short talk, numerous questions were asked Mr. Hanson about the necessary number of members, the cost of organizing a flying club, what might be accomplished, the cost of keeping up flying, and so forth.

It was reported that the pump and motor have been installed at the Swimming Pool, and it is now possible to empty and fill the pool in something over ten hours. It is the present intention of the caretaker, Eddie Vermunt, to pump for about four hours each day, thus ensuring a constant supply of fresh water.

Installation of the service wires, and the transformer necessary to run the motor was a donation of the Calgary Power Company, the club was informed.

Board Changes Barley Quota

Effective August 7 an order of the Canadian Wheat Board conditionally extends the barley quota so that contestants in the $25,000 National Barley Contest will be free to ship a carload of 1,667 bushels, the minimum required to qualify in the competition.

The original quota was 10 bushels per seeded acre. "It has been decided," says the August 7 order, "to extend the barley quota in cases of low seeded acreage so that producers of maturing barley are permitted to ship a carload."

"Thus while the general barley quota remains at 10 bushels per seeded acre, there may be delivered from each farm covered by a delivery permit book one full carload of barley accepted by a mailster or shipper and for which a premium is to be paid."

"The car of barley shipped under this permission is not in addition to the general quota which stays at 10 bushels per seeded acre."

In other words the maximum barley quota for each producer is either 10 bushels per seeded acre or one carload of maturing barley, whichever is the greater.

Producers are cautioned not to deliver on the 10-bushel quota if they want to deliver a carload. For example, if a grower delivers his 10-bushel quota to the elevator, he cannot then deliver his carload lot. The carload delivery, if he makes one, includes the 10-bushel quota.

THE DISARMAMENT PROBLEM

A Promise oft repeated by allied statesmen during the war was one that promised to safeguard the future peace by complete disarmament of the enemy nations. The destruction of munition factories and all war potentials was stressed in that plan. All this was "Never again shall the peace of the world be disturbed by an aggressor nation."

Can statesmanship deliver the goods? Can the allied nations carry out all that is involved in the destruction of war potentials in any country, even that of our late enemy, Germany? Clause 8 in the Atlantic Charter said something about that — that such a step, and the release from the crushing burdens of armaments for all countries was the object of this war. How far would any scheme seeking to suppress all war potentials reach into the economic life of a nation?

Canada was practically without any war potentials when Hitler declared war on Europe. With amazing speed we turned our peacetime industries into centres for making war goods. Railroad shops were making guns, tanks, etc., machine shops made shell and many other war articles; auto factories made trucks, gun carriers, etc.

Plane factories grew up quickly. Radio factories made some of the most essential equipment; merchant ships were quickly armed and even distilleries were called into action making alcohol for explosives and synthetic rubber, etc. In a thousand ways it seems that our civilian peace economy was converted into an industry and economy for war time uses. What then are "war potentials"?

These facts seem to indicate that any essential peace time industry can quickly convert to serve war time purposes.

Any plan of sustained disarmament in a foreign country would require an unbelievably large force of inspectors checking painstakingly all imports for contraband arms. Experience has taught us that Armament Manufacturers are much too willing and ready to assist in clandestine arming in other nations. This has been proven by the arming of rebel forces in countries like Spain where Franco armed his forces in spite of the Franco-friendliness of the established government in existence in the country. What guarantee can we have that any that any quota of such items as iron, copper, nickel and countless other things, imported as essentials for peace time economy will not be used for other purposes?

It is impossible to think of depriving any nation, such as Germany and Japan, of a healthy export and import trade. They would perish from the face of the earth if that were done. They are far from self-sustaining in their civilian economy.

A force to patrol any large nation closely enough to prevent all secret re-arming would impose a very heavy burden on nations carrying out such a scheme. Nor can we quite forget that military might, no matter how applied, can never change the direction of a nation's purposes and endeavours. The will of the nation itself must be behind such a scheme. Hitler's experiments along that line should teach us at least that much. Granting that our statesmen believe that our former enemies can be kept disarmed indefinitely (100 years they said) what reason can they give

F. W. GERSHAW WRITES FROM OTTAWA

VETERANS LEGISLATION

Four returned men were sitting on the sidewalk in a small town. They were talking of many things, but were all agreed that the provisions made for veterans of Canada were much more complete than those of any other country.

Canada not only provides for the men who were in the Canadian Army, but pays to those who fought in any of the allied armies. If a Canadian enlisted say in the British Army and was wounded or sick he would get a British Pension. He will find that this is much less than the Canadian Pension so the Government here makes up the difference. They take the stand that all Canadians should be treated alike. In the Senate the thought has been expressed that the country has gone too far. No one objects to paying the present tax, but they point out that the present generation of taxpayers will soon be gone and the young men and women, many of whom were in the war, will themselves need to carry the burden.

One million enlisted in World War I compared with 628,000 in World War II. Pensions for War I reached a peak in 1932 and the amount in that year was $41,800,000. The peak for World War II should be reached in 1951 and will amount to about 60 million dollars.

The Veterans Allowance amounts to 17 million a year and of course will be carried on for many years.

About 100,000 ex-service men will take up land under the Veteran's Land Act. Each will get a grant of about $2,000.00. This together with the cost of administration, will be about 250 million dollars.

About 40,000 are taking University training and about 100,000 are taking Vocational training.

The really big costs are the rehabilitation measures. In the next five years this will amount to one and one-half billion dollars or more. Some of the items are as follows for World War II:—

Treatments	$184,000,000
Cost of Work Benefits	24,500,000
Vocational training	75,734,000
(Awaiting returns. This is a grant to farmers and others to carry on till profits come in.)	31,321,000
University training	164,237,000
Unemployment Insurance
Contributions	24,541,000
War Service Gratuities	522,444,000
Hospital Care	60,000,000

At the present time there are 12 Bills going thru parliament. Each Bill is amending and improving some veteran legislation. There are changes being made in the War Service Grants, Veterans Rehabilitation Act, Veterans Loan Act, Benefit Acts, Veterans Land Act, Pension Act, Allowance Act and the Fire Fighters Benefit Act.

Game Season Announced

Regulations regarding shooting of migratory birds for the current year were issued recently by the department at Ottawa.

Open season on Ducks, geese (other than Ross's Goose), rails and coots in this section of the province runs from one half hour before sunrise September 13 to 1/2 hour after sunset November 28. Open season on Wilson's Snipe runs from one half before sunrise on September 14 to one half after sunset on November 9.

It is pointed out that there is a year round close season on Elder

Discuss Rehabilitation of Veterans

SOUTHERN ALBERTA CITIZENS' REHABILITATION COMMITTEE CONFERENCE

Progress of Canada's rehabilitation program was reviewed and plans for future aid to veterans were laid at the two-day conference of Citizens' Committee representatives from southern Alberta and government officials held in Calgary, on August 19 and 20. Conference members from Strathmore were S. H. Crowther and Rowe Martin.

The sixty-five delegates heard a general review of the volume of work handled during the past year by the Department of Veterans' Affairs from Joseph Sutton, District Administrator for the southern Alberta area. Mr. Sutton said $2,913,608 had been distributed to 13,628 veterans in re-establishment credits to the end of July. This figure represents about 20 per cent of the total available to veterans, who have ten years from discharge in which to claim the grant.

Benefits Greatly Increased

Mr. Sutton made special note of the fact that during the past few months the number of veterans in southern Alberta drawing out-of-work allowances had decreased to less than 300, and the number receiving awaiting returns

Fairweather Excellent Camp

Rev. Stanley R. Hunt returned to Carleton Place, August 17, from Fairweather Camp, having remained a week to paint the buildings. The enrollment was not large, but an excellent boys' and girls' camp is reported.

Blaine Chapman, Bill Julian, Grace Way and Gwen Hunt were local young people who gave splendid leadership to the boys and girls of the camp.

Mr. Elmore Philpott and Scott Neary gave a realistic analysis of present day trends towards internationalism, at the School of Religion. Mr. Philpott says that the situation is not hopeless; This is a great time to live. There is so much to be done in building friendliness into world peace.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hunt were the efficient kitchen staff throughout the camp, feeding up to 63 people at one meal.

These amendments will mean an outlay now of 3 1/2 million plus an annual cost of $3,950,000.

The Committee dealing with this legislation is made up entirely of returned men and they have held many meetings.

Sincerely,
G. F. Gershaw

benefits while building up farm and business enterprises had increased from 200 to 2,100 in the same period. In addition, 3027 veterans had received vocational training, and 1167 pre-matriculation education under the government program during the past year.

The large volume of business handled by the D. V. A. staff of 650 was further illustrated by the fact that 5141 in-patients and 792 out-patients received treatment at the Col. Belcher Hospital in Calgary last year, 961 at the Convalescent Hospital and 81,624 passed through the D. V. A. out-patients' clinic.

The conference took the form of round-table discussions on all phases of the rehabilitation program, with the Citizens' Committee representatives freely expressing their views on how the program is working in their respective districts.

Study Housing

The morning of the second day of the conference was highlighted by a review of the part the Alberta provincial government is taking in the re-establishment of veterans. A resolution of appreciation was passed for the co-operation being given, and sent to the Premier. It was observed that Alberta was the only province in Canada to provide at least a partial answer to the question of supplying building materials for veterans constructing their own homes.

Erect Memorial Stone

The installation of the Memorial Tablet to the fallen from this district in the First World War was completed last week. The stone takes the form of a footstone to the Memorial erected to the memory of those fallen in the First Great War, and stands in the front yard of the Memorial Hall.

Inscribed on the stone are the names of six men from this area who lost their lives in the Second World War. They are W. H. Bucks, H. G. Houshearn, C. G. Christensen, J. E. Harwood, M. W. Watts and J. W. Weyers.

The new stone bears also the inscription at its head 1939 World War II 1945, and bears as motif on either side a cluster of maple leaves, balancing the maple leaves carried on the original stone at its head. The new section matches in color the old stone, and was cut to fit the footstone of the original.

FARMING NEWS

Produced by the Alberta
Department of Agriculture

Order Rams and Boars Early—

Farmers who need pure-bred rams or boars are urged by the Livestock Branch to place their orders at an early date. Purchase of rams for placement under the Sheep Improvement Policy will be made at the Fall Sales around the end of October. Requirements known well in advance will enable representatives of the Branch to purchase accordingly. Rams will be purchased only in sufficient quantity to fill applications. Early application will result in the possession of a fine quality sire; late application may mean disappointment.

Early application for pure-bred boars is equally important. With the rumoured reduction in hog production, many breeders will use the knife on their young boars, unless there is some assurance that these animals will be needed for breeding purposes. Even though delivery may not be required until December, orders should be placed now to avoid disappointment.

Application for purchase of pure bred rams, or boars, should be made as early as possible to the nearest District Agriculturist, or to the Livestock Branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

Fall Rye—

A reminder that fall rye is an excellent competitive crop for the control of weeds comes from A. M. Wilson, Field Crops Commissioner. When seeded in the later part of August this crop usually establishes a heavy fall growth. In the spring it quickly covers the ground and smother many weeds.

To be successfully used in a weed control program rye must not be pastured in the fall or spring. Heavy fall pasturing may lead to winter killing or to delayed spring growth. If the crop is pastured in the spring the smothering effect on weeds is lost. Fall cultivation following rye will be particularly useful in controlling perennial weeds.

Seed Growers' Meetings

The Alberta Branch of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association has completed a series of meetings at key points in the province. Regional meetings were held at Lethbridge, Beaverlodge and Edmonton and following these the annual meeting of the Branch was held at Lacombe.

Facilities of the three Experimental farms and the Plant Science Department of the University enabled growers to observe approved seed growing methods in practice and to compare new varieties with those being grown extensively at the present time. Speakers included directors of the Association as well as representatives of the Dominion Plant Products Division, the Field Crops Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, the Experimental Farms and the University of Alberta.

As a result of the interest of growers in these meetings it is planned to hold them annually. Further expansion of the work of the Association, which was seriously curtailed by wartime restrictions, is being planned for 1947.

Poultry Notes—

Pullets on range should be so fed and managed that they will reach the age of approximately six months before production starts. This allows proper body development, to withstand the strain of heavy laying. Egg production at an early age causes an abnormal number of small eggs and heavy mortality. When pullets are put into the laying house, conditions in the house should duplicate range conditions as nearly as possible for a short time at least. Continue to feed growing mash until production reaches around 40%, then change gradually to laying mash. A continuous supply of grit and oyster shell should be assured.

The production of turkey meat is an important phase of poultry raising during the fall and early winter. The Caeca worm, an intermediate host for the organism causing Blackhead in turkeys is found in large numbers in chicks. Growing turkeys then, should not be allowed to range nor intermingle in any way with other fowl. Blackhead has already made its appearance and every care should be taken to prevent its spread. Good sanitary practices and range rotation are necessary.

Tape worms have been found in many young turkeys lately. The common fly is the intermediate host for this parasite and control measures should be put into effect to eliminate the fly. Clean up the manure piles and other breeding places. The use of D. D. T. according to directions will help materially in fly control.

Prevent Waste—

Those of us who produce food for our own consumption have a double responsibility today, says Miss B. J. Lewis, Nutritionist for the Home Economics Division of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. Not only do we have to consider the needs of our own families, but we must remember that other people in our world are starving. It is up to us to avoid waste, to preserve and store as much as possible. The more home grown products we store for winter use, the more commercial products will be available for others.

Bulletins on "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables", "Canning and Preserving with Hones", "Preserve by Freezing", and other information to help with canning, preserving and pickling are available from the Home Economics Division of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

FORTY CAR DRIVERS' LICENSES SUSPENDED

Forty drivers' licenses have been suspended in Alberta this year for various causes, according to information received from the provincial department by the Alberta Motor Association.

During the whole of last year, the number suspended was 68. Provincial legislation provides that magistrates shall have power to suspend drivers' licenses when a conviction has been made for violation of the law and such a course appears desirable in the circumstances.

In many of the cases, the drivers had been found guilty of reckless driving or similar infringements of the statute.

REQUEST REVISION OF WHEAT POLICY

The board of directors of the Alberta Wheat Pool has asked the government to revise its wheat policy that deliveries during the 1945-46 crop year will not be included in the proposed five-year pool.

The government plan provides for the making of a flat payment of 10c per bushel on wheat deliveries during the 1945-46 crop year. This would bring the initial payment up to $1.35 a bushel for that year.

It would appear that all the deliveries from the 1945 wheat crop have been disposed of by the Wheat Board. It is presumed that there is a substantial cash balance available for a final payment and that the 10c bushel which the government intends to pay will absorb only part of this surplus. The Alberta Wheat Pool maintains that those farmers who delivered wheat in the 1945-46 crop year are entitled to the entire amount of cash returns from the sale of their wheat.

It is the present intention of the government to use the excess money above the 10c a bushel payment as part of the five-year pool 1945-49.

In outlining the Alberta Wheat Pool's position in the above matter Ben S. Plomer, chairman of the Board of directors, sent the following wire to every member of the federal cabinet:

"We have considered the government's suggested wheat policy and appreciate the value of the stability provided for the next four years. It is unnecessary to include the 1945 crop in the pool and it should be settled for as the Wheat Board Act provided at the time it was delivered. This proposed variation of the act after the wheat has been sold would be nothing short of confiscation of wheat farmers' money by legislation. Wheat farmers made enormous contributions to the general economy of Canada through very low wheat prices during the war years. They have also subsidized the domestic consumption in Canada and should not be required to make further donations that other classes have not been asked for and would not stand for it is time that domestic wheat should be sold at the same price as that paid by Britain."

VISITORS TO THE NATIONAL PARKS

Visitors to Canada's National Parks where a day to record is kept number approximately 150,000 up to the end of July according to a statement released by the Honourable J. A. Glen, Minister of Mines and Resources. This compares with an attendance of approximately 600,000 during the whole of 1945 and is perhaps indicative of the increased tourist travel all over Canada in this first year of peace.

During the month of July alone 60,873 visitors passed through the Eastern Gateway into Banff National Park, Alberta, an increase of more than 18,000 over the same month last year. The other National Parks in Alberta also report a similar percentage increase in the number of visitors. Waterton Lakes attendance figures jumped from 19,000 to 45,000; Elk Island, the home of the buffalo, from less than 10,000 to nearly 17,000; and Jasper National Park from 1,000 to 7,500 as compared with July of last year.

In Saskatchewan, Prince Albert National Park had 11,700 visitors compared with 8,000 in July, 1945, and Riding Mountain National Park British Columbia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia all tell a similar story - substantial increases over July of last year. For instance, Kootenay National Park in British Columbia, had an increase in visitors from 8,700 to 21,000; Point Pelee in Ontario, from 15,400 to 30,800; Prince Edward Island National Park from 17,000 to 21,000; and Cape Breton Highlands National Park in Nova Scotia; from 5,000 to 7,500.

A feature of this year's attendance at the National Parks is the number of visitors bringing their own camping equipment, including many automobile trailers, and making use of the campgrounds which have been equipped for that purpose in all the National Parks.

Superintendents report that these campgrounds have been used to a greater extent than ever before thus relieving the pressure on other park accommodation.

Tin Cans Safe

Canadian housewives who empty canned foods from metal containers as soon as it is opened may be surprised to learn that the food is just as wholesome and less liable to contamination if left in the can.

This is the opinion of H. B. Stevens, research director of the American Can Company in Canada, backed by nutrition and health experts in Canada and the United States.

The Canadian Department of Agriculture, in a bulletin entitled "Canned Fruits and Vegetables for Variety in Everyday Meals" states: "Canned fruits and vegetables may be safely left in the can after opening." In a more detailed report, the United States Department of Agriculture says:

"It is just as safe to keep canned foods in the can it comes in if the can is cool and covered - as it is to empty the food into another container. Thousands of housewives are firm in the faith that canned foods ought to be emptied as soon as the can is opened, or at least before the remainder of the food goes into the refrigerator - one of the persistent food fallacies."

Cans and foods are sterilized in the (canning) processing. But the dish into which the food might be emptied is far from sterile. In other words, it may have on it bacteria that cause food spoilage. Whether in the original can or into another container, the principal precautions for keeping food - keep it cool and keep it covered."

Christian Science

"Mind" will be the topic elucidated in the Lesson-Sermon at the Christian Science churches on Sunday. Following are significant passages taken from it: "Great is our Lord, and of great power; his understanding is infinite." (Psalms 147:5) "God is mind, and God is infinite; hence all is mind. On this statement rests the Science of being and the Principle of this Science is divine, demonstrating harmony and immortality." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 492).

HOW MUCH WATER DOES A COW NEED

Veterinary authorities state that for the highest production of milk the importance of a continuous supply of drinking water for the cows cannot be over-estimated. Experiments in Canada, United States, Britain and other countries have shown that milk production was higher from cattle with water available to them throughout the day than from cattle which had access to water only once or twice a day.

It is estimated that the average cow needs from 10 to 15 gallons of water per day. High producing cattle such as those producing, say, 10 gallons of milk per day, may consume up to 30 gallons of water per day. Where dry feed, such as hay or chaff and concentrates, is being fed, the cows would take 10 to 15 gallons of water as such. However, where the cows are on pasture and quantities up to 120 pounds are known to be eaten water would be taken in smaller amounts. One hundred and thirty pounds of pasture would probably contain about nine or ten gallons of water. If silage were fed, 50 pounds of that material would probably contain about 3½ gallons of water.

Women Councillors

The Town of Brooks recently held a bye election to fill two vacancies on their Town Council. And for the first time the Town has two women representing them on the Council.

Four candidates ran for two seats, and since three of the four were women, it was a foregone conclusion that at least one would gain a seat. The women candidates were supported by the recently organized Women's Civic Improvement League, which shows a really representative cross section of the town's ladies.

More towns should have a Woman's Civic Improvement League, and more towns should have women on the Council. We're not at this time trying to suggest that Strathmore's Council needs new blood; we feel and have expressed ourselves strongly as feeling that Strathmore is favoured with unusually good local government.

But we still suggest that more women should take an interest in civic government in all towns. More women should run for Council. More women should bring to the fore their ideas of bettering their home town, and more women should learn also the difficulty and sometimes impossibility of instituting the work they feel is required in the town.

Freedom Threatened

Judith Robinson's valiant little crusading Toronto weekly news (which regrettably "folded up" some months ago) used to carry at the mast-head of every issue these words of Somerset Maugham: "If a nation values anything more than freedom it will lose its freedom."

We thought of this the other day when the report on a Gallup poll published in the press showed that 60 per cent of Canadians questioned knew nothing about Magna Carta and 59 per cent knew nothing about habeas corpus.

Since no little is known of these safeguards of British and thus of Canadian freedom, it is perhaps natural that a majority of Canadians should have remained apparently indifferent to the threat to the freedom of everyone of us resulting from the contemptuous brushing aside by the Kellock-Taschereau Commission, of the rights enjoyed by the citizen under British institutions for hundreds of years.

If the public has not fully sensed the danger, fortunately a few in every walk of life and in every party in the Canadian Parliament have realized what is involved. Conservative lawyers and members of the House of Commons like Diefenbaker of Saskatoon and Smith of Calgary, S.C. and of course the C.C.F. members at Ottawa, find common ground in this cause, with such prominent Liberals as Hon. G. C. Power, a former member of the King Cabinet, and an Irish Catholic, and with Canada's leading Liberal newspaper, the Winnipeg Free Press.

As the Free Press points out, the liberties imperilled in this case are not the liberties of a handful of men and women, but "the liberties of each and every one of us. If a Government, acting under emergency powers and through a Royal Commission would brush aside the rights of some individuals, however unworthy and guilty they might be, what guarantee can anyone have that under some pretext or other his own rights would not be trampled down?"

LANGDON

— By G. E. W. —

Snow! Snow! Snow!
If winter comes can Spring be far behind?

What a surprise to many when they awoke on Friday, morning to find the ground white with snow. To many farmers in the district this will make the cutting hard as the grain is lying down in places. However they are still able to smile. The Langdon farmers always can in spite of what happens.

The H. & S. met in the W. I. rooms on August 12th, when there were 16 members and four visitors present. Several business matters were discussed and dealt with during the meeting. Cleaning of the School and hauling coal for the winter, was left over and the Secretary hopes to have a report on these two matters by the next meeting, August 26th. A tasty lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Dick Little and Mrs. Stevens. Mrs. J. Nicholson was elected to help Mrs. Watson on the entertainment committee.

Also the ready tickets for the layette will be ready soon. Several business matters were dealt with and approved. A tasty lunch was served by the hostess.

Under The Street Lamp

by PAT O'HOOLEY

This is PAT O'HOOLEY

A guest was observed entering the revolving door of a hotel, and then going round and round in the door. This went on for some time, and another person finally called the hotel manager. Between them they finally managed to stop the door, and then the manager demanded angrily: "And what do you thing you are doing, sir?" "I'm taking run before breakfast," "Then why not take a run down the street," said the manager, "instead of running around in this door?" "Gosh, I'd like to, but I don't dare. I'm expecting an important telephone call."

"This man is annoying me, constap-le." Complained Loretta Harwood. "But he isn't even looking at you." Loretta: "That's what's annoying me."

The hill was steep and the load heavy. The donkey did his best, but at last it stopped and would not budge another inch.

Just then the driver saw a man passing.

"Excuse me," he said, "but could you help me to get this load to the top of the hill? It's too much for one donkey."—The Prairie Messenger.

According to Bob Hambly, some parents tie up their dogs at night, and let their girls run at large.

Bob Milligan wanted a bottle and went to the drugstore to buy one. "How Much?" he asked.

"If you want the empty bottle it will be two cents," said Mr. Patteson, "but if you want anything in it, you can have it for nothing."

"Well, that's fair enough," declared Bob, "put a cork in it."

Bob Gray and John Sharpe sat on the porch puffing solemnly at their pipes.

"There's no much pleasure in smoking John," said Bob.

"Hoo dae ye mak' that oat?" questioned John.

"Weel, if ye're smokin' yer ain bacca, ye're thinkin' of the awful expense, and if ye're smoking some ither body's y'r pipe's rammed sae tight it winna draw."

Eddie Barlow was telling Louie McKinnon this week that a pedestrian is a person who should be seen but not hurt.

WORLD OF WHEAT

ORDER GOOD SEED NOW

The "Crop Testing Plan" this last winter and spring distributed to farmers just over 40,000 bushels of Registered and Certified cereal seed sealed in the sack.

In the Wheats, Thatcher was far and away the variety in greatest demand, followed closely by Red Bobs. Then came Regent which year by year is showing an increase in popularity. There was a greater demand for Garnet than for many years past.

With oats, as usual Victory was far in the lead; followed next with substantial quantities of Ajax, the new production of our Rust Research Laboratory at Winnipeg. Ajax, therefore, is a variety worth watching.

With Barley, O. A. C. 21 as usual was in far and away the greatest demand. The next variety in popularity being Push and then the new stiff-strawed feed barley Titan, which also is worth watching.

Many farmers unfortunately, who wanted Registered and Certified seed were disappointed because they sent in their orders too late, and the supply last year was quite limited.

My most earnest advice, therefore, to farmers who have made up their minds that they require better seed next year is to place orders for Registered and Certified seed as early as possible this fall so as to be sure of early delivery next spring.

Danes Not Getting Best of Bacon Deal

Press reports from Britain about the wide spread between Canadian and Danish bacon prices are thought at Ottawa to be greatly exaggerated, says The Financial Post. So far as can be learned, Canadian farmers retain a highly preferred position in the British bacon market until 1948.

Basic reason behind the British deal for bacon, butter and eggs with Denmark was the urgent need for supplies and the certainty that unless a contract were made, the Russians would buy up the entire Danish supply. As it is, Britain has contracted for about 92 million pounds of bacon on Denmark in 1946 and 90% of Danish output in 1947 and 1948. It is not thought likely this will give the British more than 150 to 200 million lb. annually, against pre-war shipments of about 400 million lb. annually. Anticipated shipments by Canada in 1946 are between 300 and 325 million lb., with a minimum of 350 and 400 million lb. in 1947 and 1948.

Few Changes

CEILINGS ON PEARS, PEACHES AND PLUMS SHOW FEW CHANGES

Ceilings for peaches, pears and plums (including fresh prunes) of the 1946 crop, both domestic and imported, were set July 29 by A-2059 and are almost the same as last year.

There are slight changes from last year in the periods during which these prices are in effect and ceilings on bushel and half-bushel baskets, also a six-quart flat covered basket, have been added to the price list. The new distinction between open, flat and heaped baskets has caused slight changes in prices of peaches, which should be carefully noted. These are the only changes from last year's prices.

Australian Conductor

Professor Bernard Heinze, Australian conductor, is coming to Canada in December at the invitation of the CBC. While here he will direct a series of symphonic broadcasts in Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal. Professor Heinze has had great influence on Australia's musical life. For many years he has shown particular interest in the musical education of youth, and his "Young People's Concerts" in Melbourne bring great orchestral music to over 75,000 school children annually.

RODENT. INSECT RESEARCH OPENS

A group of Canadian and United States medical personnel and scientific research workers have been formed to correlate an intensive program of research in rodent and insect-carried diseases, Dr. M. R. Bow, deputy minister of health for Alberta, said here Monday.

Formation of the group follows decisions made at the first international conference of plague and spotted fever workers held at Waterton Lakes, near the Montana border. Dr. Bow presided at the Conference.

Purpose of the international group is to gather and interchange medical and scientific information on diseases transmitted to humans through origin by insects and parasites carried by rodents.

Sparking the activity of the researchers is knowledge and observations gathered from the records of the First and Second Great wars, which have revealed that insects and rodents armed with viruses or germs, have in many instances been recorded as more deadly than the biochemical lethal instruments manufactured by man.

Special Emphasis Proposed researches by the group of scientific and medical men are aimed primarily at prevention, if possible, or at least control of insect and rodent-carried diseases. Special emphasis is being placed on the common rat which is a host to fleas of a species that spreads the Bubonic plague.

us for the present day rearming of the victor nations. The plans to streamline the forces and seek new techniques; the invention and testing of new weapons; the continued manufacture of more and also more powerful atom bombs. That our former enemies will, for reasons of survival, be compelled to live in a state of disarmament no one who has read the accounts of the destruction of their economy can reasonably doubt. Against whom, or what, is this new race in re-arming directed?

The taxpayer who bears the burdens of the cost of this re-arming in increased taxes, and will likely later pay it again in blood, sweat, toil and tears of misery, should know. All this looks more like another war in the offing than a "sure and lasting peace."

Arming as a preparedness measure is a delusion, so history says. Germany was twice armed to the teeth—well prepared—and was twice soundly beaten. Why not instead create a World Police Force under the direction of a select, perhaps rotating Committee of the United Nations with the smaller nations holding the deciding votes. In such a plan there should be no reason for laying the crushing burden of large military establishment in peace times upon the shoulders of individual nations. What else is there if we seek a peaceful world?

Len Gillhart, of Station CFCN, returned from holidays spent in Banff and Calgary, on Monday, and is now at work again.

Under the provisions of The Noxious Weeds Act notice is hereby given to all residents of the M. D. of Bow Valley No. 40 to cut all weeds growing upon road-allowances adjoining their lands. This Council has decided that this municipality will make no attempt to clear snow from roads where weeds have not been cut. Please co-operate for the common good. Spur your neighbor to do his bit by cutting weeds on his one half of the road.

M. D. of Bow Valley No. 40,
